aging society

living situation

computer-based assistance

A black and white photograph of an elderly person with short, light-colored hair, wearing a light-colored short-sleeved shirt and dark pants. They are kneeling on a patterned mat on the floor, looking down intently at a tablet device held in their hands. In the background, a dark wooden table holds an open laptop. To the right, a metal shelving unit is filled with various boxes and items. The scene is lit from the left, creating soft shadows. The text "age vs. technology" is overlaid in white, bold, sans-serif font across the center of the image.

age vs. technology

«Old people do not use apps and computers because they do not make fun of them. A personal reference to it is mostly missing.»
